SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

This public workshop is intended to support FDA implementation of requirements for guidance development under section 3002 of the Cures Act (Pub. L. 114-255) and to meet a performance goal included in the sixth authorization of PDUFA VI. Section 3002 of Title III Subtitle A of the Cures Act directs FDA to develop patient-focused drug development guidance to address a number of areas including methodological approaches that may be used to develop and identify what is most important to patients with respect to burden of disease, burden of treatment, and the benefits and risks in the management of the patient's disease; and approaches to identifying and developing methods to measure impacts to patients that will help facilitate collection of patient experience data in clinical trials.

In addition, FDA committed to meet certain performance goals under PDUFA VI. This reauthorization, part of the FDA Reauthorization Act of 2017 signed by the President on August 18, 2017, includes a number of performance goals and procedures that are documented in the PDUFA VI Commitment Letter, which is available at <https://www.fda.gov/downloads/ForIndustry/UserFees/PrescriptionDrugUserFee/UCM511438.pdf>. These goal commitments were developed in consultation with patient and consumer advocates, healthcare professionals, and other public stakeholders, as part of negotiations with regulated industry. Section J.1 of the commitment letter, “Enhancing the Incorporation of the Patient’s Voice in Drug Development and Decision-Making,”

(<https://www.fda.gov/downloads/ForIndustry/UserFees/PrescriptionDrugUserFee/UCM511438.pdf>) outlines work, including the development of a series of guidance documents and associated public workshops to facilitate the advancement and use of systematic approaches to collect and utilize robust and meaningful patient and caregiver input that can more consistently inform drug development, and, as appropriate, regulatory decision making.

Prior to the issuance of each guidance, as part of the development, FDA will conduct a public workshop to gather input from the wider community of patients, patient advocates, academic researchers, expert practitioners, drug developers, and other stakeholders.

II. Purpose and Scope of Meeting

FDA is announcing a 2-day public workshop to convene a discussion on: (1) methodological approaches that may be used to develop and identify what is most important to patients and caregivers with respect to burden of disease, burden of treatment, and the benefits and risks in the management of the patient’s disease and (2) best practices for selecting, developing, or modifying fit-for-purpose COAs to measure the patient experience in clinical trials. The purpose of this public workshop is to obtain feedback from stakeholders on: (1) methods to identify what is important to patients; (2) best practices for eliciting information on which aspects of disease symptoms, signs, impacts, and other issues are important and meaningful to patients; (3) measuring symptoms, signs, impacts and other issues of a disease or condition in a meaningful way; and (4) selecting, developing, or modifying fit-for-purpose COAs to measure the patient experience in clinical trials. FDA is seeking information and comments from a broad range of stakeholders, including patients, patient advocates, academic and medical researchers, expert practitioners, drug developers, and other interested persons. FDA will publish discussion documents outlining the topic areas that will be addressed in the draft guidances. These documents will be published approximately 1 month before the workshop date on the website at: <https://www.fda.gov/Drugs/NewsEvents/ucm607276.htm>. FDA is interested in seeking information and comments on the approaches and considerations proposed in the discussion documents. FDA is also interested in seeking information and comments on additional examples, which could be included in guidance, where the approaches proposed in the discussion document have been successfully applied. After this public workshop, FDA will take into consideration the stakeholder input from the workshop and the public docket and publish draft guidance(s).
